

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A controller is provided that is configured to receive a timing value for a static timing model and a timing value for an extracted timing model. The controller is further configured to determine whether the timing value for the extracted timing model falls within a permissible range of deviation from the timing value for the static timing model.

PROVISIONAL
DISCLOSURE